with its “We Will Win Edition”. The issue takes a moment to focus on its birthplace Jacksonville Florida, spotlighting some of the city’s influential entrepreneurs and talent.

Kevin Forrest, owner of the magazine had this to say, “As I think back on the history of HFL Magazine, we’ve been fortunate to feature independent and mainstream talent from around the globe. However, the root of HFL, that ambitious attitude, was birthed in Jacksonville. The culture, the people, its talent, and the fighting spirit are embodied in the individuals featured in this edition. Our cover story, activist, actress, author, poet, and educator, Ebony Payne English is the quintessential starlet, representing all of the great things coming out of the city. Her award-winning film "Kuongoza" shows some of the creative geni the city has to offer. We were honored to tell her story to our fan base. These featured individuals are a small sample of the star power constantly moving through the heart of the city. Jacksonville Florida has something to say. I will always make sure the world hears the message.”

The latest issue of HFL Magazine also includes actor and independent movie producer Michael Carter of the award-winning film “What Goes Around Comes Around”; internationally published author Monya Williams, creator of the critically acclaimed romance novel “No Regrets” and iconic poet, author, host and digital brand strategist Taryn Wharwood of IAMLOVEREIGNS Enterprises.
