Miami, Florida Dec 27, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - MIND A Multinational Fintech Launches Its new Tokens With An Inaugural Event In Colombia

The blockchain technology and finance company MIND kicked off its commercial rollout with the celebration of its launching event in the city of Medellín, Colombia. More than 150 guests attended the event, all of them representing different business sectors with a common interest, the blockchain world.

With the intention of publicizing its three types of tokens: Mind Plus and Mind USD, its franchise, real estate business lines (Mind Pool), their crypto POS UNI payment and collection system, which is the key that opens the door for all consumer establishments to access the crypto world. The event was divided into 6 interactive spaces to live different experiences and understand the Mind ecosystem. The night was also marked by art, where guests were able to appreciate the NFTs of the Mind gallery and even a cyber magician.

The evening began with an opening by biohacker and futurist, Pipe Ramirez who explained that resisting blockchain is akin to resisting the internet years ago. He also explained that resisting change is something biological, that we perceive it as a new threat. He encourages us to envision a future where we move from automatic to “auto-magic”, decentralized, with greater autonomy and freedom.

Among the guests, Paula Bermudez (Digitalaw), Edgar Borja (K1 Kioskos Automaticos), Andre Bayona (Bitchange), Byron Castellanos (CTO Mind), Pipe Ramirez (Biohacker), Andres Lozano (Business Administrator), Jairo Vélez (Manager DIU Espacios Inteligentes) Luis Marin (Monitor Crypto) and Andre Buenaver (Economic Sciences) participated on panel discussion about the future of blockchain. Daniel Aguilar, the founder of Mind, spoke about the new expansion operations in El Salvador, he highlighted the importance of having a team with the perfect skill set, to achieve the successful development of the project.

“We are starting a story of prosperity and growth for thousands of families. We are excited to present all the integral solutions for businesses of any economic genre as well as for individual users who wish to live the transition of a traditional economy to the digital one”, says Daniel.
