Los Angeles, California Dec 8, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - While the holidays often lead to a slowdown in the industry, ENDURE Studios has instead been gaining momentum in both Los Angeles and Nashville. Founder, Jay Denton, in an interview with KRXM Radio talked about the importance of consistency for creators, and that was on full display with the studios' four November releases.

NBC's The Voice alum, Madilyn Paige, released her full album, DOORS, on November 29th, along with a new title track, "Open Door" which was written by Madilyn, Aaron Kellim, and Jay Denton, and produced by Denton. The 11 track album also contains singles, "What If Things Were Different", "Excuses", and "Perfect Person" which Kellim and Denton also worked on with Paige. DOORS reveals the multi-faceted appeal of Madilyn's artistry that flows effortlessly between weighty, fun, and whimsical, and further solidifies her as a powerful emerging artist-to-watch.

On November 19th, emerging R&B pop artist, Faith Richards, released the final single, "Nobody Does It", from her upcoming album that is scheduled to release in January. The song was written by Faith, Jay Denton, and new ENDURE Studios' collaborator, Evan Chambers - whose fresh style and production brought a great new flavor to the track. Richards was also featured in an interview and article with music licensing company, Artlist, where they discuss the ways her unique and intimate sound has resonated with both fans and filmmakers all over the world.

Aaron Kellim closed the month with the November 30th release of, "Found You", written by Kellim, Denton, and Brittany Bookout. The single contains both the signature smoothness of Kellim's vocals, alongside a bold and hard-hitting sound in the chorus that drives it home. Kellim, who also is the founder of the clothing brand, Be Kind, has a new winter merch line available that has begun to grow and spread across the US.

Finally, Jay Denton released his own single, "Losing My Mind" on November 19th. Co-written and Co-produced with first-time official ENDURE Studios' collaborator, Damian Molina, the track has Denton's signature driving energy and big choruses alongside Molina's imaginative sound design in the verses. Jay, who has been balancing his work as a songwriter/producer alongside his own artist project, is set to release much more of his own music in 2022.
