Dr. Vimal has also studied

Ayurved and uses a mix of all this while formulating life impacting cosmetics. They're known for products that shows instant and significant result.

Body hair is a fact of life. When it comes to removing them at home, people prefer shaving to save their time, moreover to avoid pain. But to get a long lasting result, people switch to waxing unwillingly. Niconi's Brazilian wax breaks the stereotype of waxing being painful. The father- son duo is now the pioneer in making a technology that makes uprooting of unwanted hair painless. Niconi's product has the right equilibrium between the adhesive strength and the stress applied to your skin. Adhesive bonds two surfaces together and its strength is calculated based on the stress needed to break that bond. The formula has made it possible to have an effortless and a smooth process for men and women both.

The standalone fundament of Niconi is to make products which resolves the problem that has taken root. According to dermatologists and skin care experts, the skin takes at least a month to start showing results visible to our naked eyes. Instant results were fairly believed to be superficial, but Niconi has products which has changed the approach. The result is directly proportional to how well the products penetrate your skin. Niconi has brilliant penetrative technology that makes the result instant and noticeable. This brand has a wide range of result oriented products and Brazilian wax has been the top selling product on Amazon all over India and has been trending ever since.
