

Qualities to Look for in a Project Manager

Project management is a great skill. Project management skill is not only about handling the project, it involves a lot of things like project scope, project guidelines, team handling, reporting etc.

Dubai, United Arab Emirates Dec 26, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - A Project Manager is responsible for overseeing assigned systems and development projects – from moderate to highly complex. The task requires a lot of painstaking research and understanding of the project and the interest of all stakeholders. The manager should be a skilled motivator, a respected team leader, accountable, a strong communicator, and above all generous towards sharing credit with others.

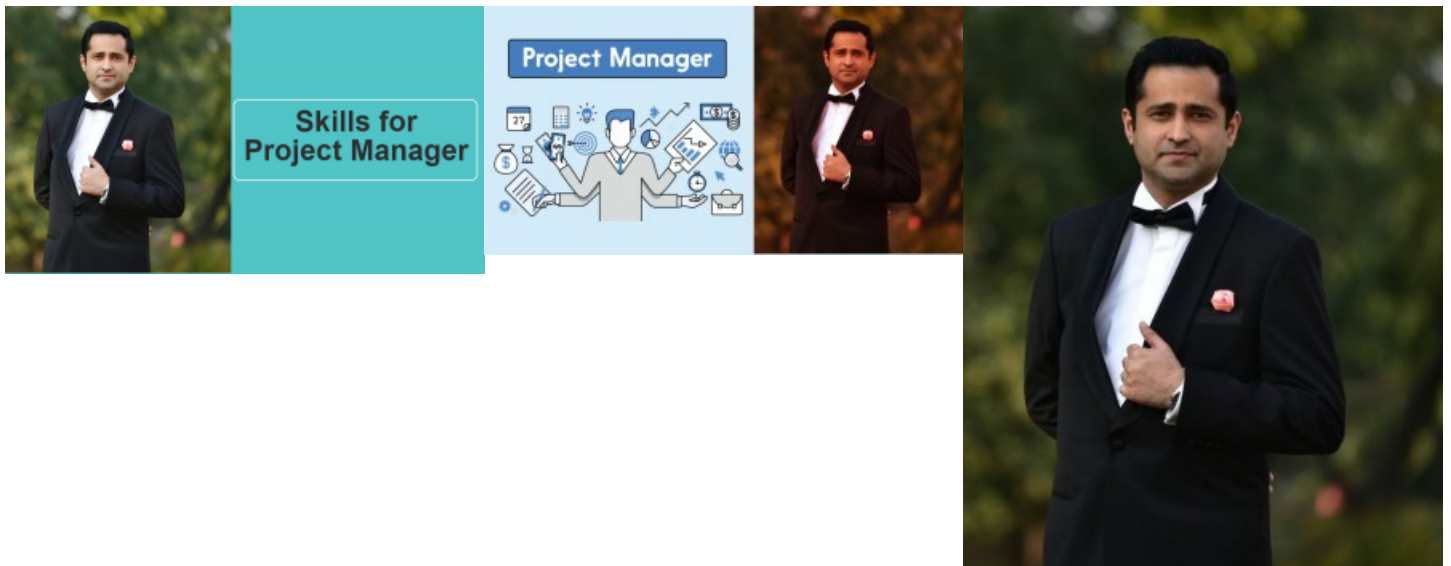

Taking about some of the best project managers I've come across in my lifespan, I cannot forget to mention M. Zahaib Nabeel – an s Project Manager with a proven track record in assembling the project team, managing resources and schedules, and assigning responsibilities to ensure that the assigned projects are completed within the stipulated time frame and deadlines are met.

During his enthralling career journey, of a little above a decade now, Nabeel has helped countless businesses by providing vision and roadmap to IT strategies, efficiently handling moderate to complex technology projects in the realm of platform delivery and implementation. He is someone you can count on for effective management and direction of your IT staff working on a project. He possesses highly specialized knowledge of required and appropriate development tools and programming languages.

From developing the project schedule, planning in order to ensure timely completion of the project and obtaining client agreement with details such as project plan, timeline, obstacles/resources' advise, communicating project goals, assembling the project team, monitoring the progress of the project, and assigning appropriate tasks to the resources based on their skills, knowledge, and abilities to identifying competencies and more, Nabeel has demonstrated his outstanding skills and abilities in project manager over the past 10+ years.

Muhammad Zahaib Nabeel is well-versed in some of the most popular tracking systems and project management tools that are required to manage various aspects of the progress of the project. He knows the worth of each resource and ensures that each resource is utilized most optimally. Besides ensuring optimum resource utilization, he is competent enough to contribute to the project individually and, if required, he is available to do software modifications and develop programming code using his programming skills as well.

Other than project management, he specializes in pre-sales as well. As a pre-sales consultant, he can be relied upon for dealing efficiently with potential clients to ensure that their requirements are well understood by the team and that the clients will get the best quality solutions/services for their projects.
