

Rising Punjabi artist Abhi Brar wins hearts with his rebellious lyrical ballads

Punjab, India Dec 20, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Punjab has always given the music world some of its best musicians over the years. Young and talented Punjabi singer-songwriter Abhijot Singh, also known as Abhi Brar, has emerged into the scene with his highly creative and thought-provoking melodies.

He has recently gained the attention of music lovers across the world with his music video featuring

Tanman Brar and Gill Bukanwala, 'Dharna' that deals with the burning theme of the recent farmer protest in India. His penetrative voice mingled with powerful rhythmic waves lets the audience feel the intensity of the lyrics. That is why he understands the real issues of farmers in the country. His other song, '2% Wale' is also a rebellious song on the same matter.

Abhi Brar is a 19-year-old singer, songwriter, rapper, and music producer. He has his very own official YouTube channel called Wheel Music that offers a platform for young talents to shine. Born in 2002, the prolific artist was interested in music from a very young age. He along with his family has moved to Moga, Punjab in his childhood. Currently, he is a student and helping his father with agriculture.
