

TuneCable Supports ALAC Format

-- The leading audio ripper supports Apple Lossless Audio Codec

Argyll, United Kingdom Dec 8, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - On December 2nd, TuneCable, a leading brand of streaming music converter, announced all lines of its product support downloading music to ALAC format. This is a glaringly exciting moment to all music fans, in that there has been a long call for such an improvement in the market. And TuneCable is apparently moving a big step forward to satiate its customers' needs.

- What is ALAC?

As defined by Wikipedia, "The Apple Lossless Audio Codec (ALAC), also known as Apple Lossless, or Apple Lossless Encoder (ALE), is an audio coding format, and its reference audio codec implementation, developed by Apple Inc. for lossless data compression of digital music. "

In one word, ALAC is more than a popular format for today's music fans, for which retains 100% of the audio quality while compressing the output file as small as it can be. It could be named the "Ear Saver" if you are that type of person who cannot live without music.

- A Big Move of TuneCable

In 2011, Apple made ALAC format an available open-source, and it became totally royalty-free since then. However, for nearly 10 years, the ALAC format has been remaining to be a big challenge for companies developing music converters. And as of today, TuneCable has successfully broken through this obstacle and temporarily surpassed its competitors in the market.

In TuneCable's latest version, setting the ALAC as the output format has been updated to the programs. These programs and their version numbers respectively are TuneCable Spotify Downloader (Windows 1.4.2 /Mac 1.3.2), TuneCable Apple Music Converter (Windows 1.6.2 / Mac 1.5.2), and TuneCable Amazon Music Recorder (Windows 1.2.2 /Mac 1.2.2). All of them can be operated on Windows 7~11 or macOS 10.11~12.

As of now, TuneCable has managed to download Spotify Music, Apple Music, and Amazon Music in 6 plain formats – MP3/AAC/WAV/FLAC/AIFF/ALAC. If you want to download these programs for a try, you can directly go to TuneCable's download center: <https://www.tunecable.com/download.html>
