High-quality design and technological expertise make Utopia a special metaverse project. So far they have amassed more than 4,100 followers on Twitter while running an active Telegram channel with more than 2,800 users. Their community is growing at a steep rate and as it is said in the industry, the "hype is boiling" before the release since everyone wants to secure a Utopia Coin before it's too late.

Driving a wave of innovation in the Utopia Metaverse

Utopia is built upon an arresting storyline and narrative that revolves around an imaginative place with the same name. It is a utopia that glorifies power, glamour and influence. Theoretically located somewhere on multi-blockchains in the Metaverse, this utopian place harvests the most intriguing characters you will ever see: producers, protectors, adventurers, utopians and voters.

This first upcoming drop consists of 1,000 elite Utopians who will be entitled to participate in the presale and will be offered a significant amount of discount compared to later participants. In addition to this, the top 100 winners will receive a limited-edition NFT and a coveted Utopian badge as an honor.

The winner tier can be broken down as follows:

Top 100 winners: subscription limit of 1BNB

Top 300–1000 winners: subscription limit of 0.25BNB

After the competition, users can look forward to enjoying the immersive metaverse experience through weekly activities, seasonal drops, exclusive NFT cards and contributing to the whole Utopia metaverse ecosystem.

Expanding the metaverse with a focus on Users

Many companies have surged with the NFT and play-to-earn craze, but most of them launch NFT and crypto products for the sake of it without considering user experience, value proposition, and demonstrating unique selling points. In Utopia, the development and marketing teams take time to create a truly unique aesthetic masterpiece along with a unique experience for every utopian.

The team behind Utopia arrived at the project with vast experience in the crypto and blockchain industry. Utopia's developers specialized in smart contracts and had worked in world-class tech companies like Google and Amazon. They are the cornerstone to build this industry-disrupting product with cutting-edge technologies and an extra touch to customer service.

Thousands of hours have been invested into carefully crafting the Utopia metaverse in many different aspects to build the entire ecosystem. The rewarding system and token rarity can offer various benefits to its holder, and thanks to the way it was designed, once all the tokens are minted, the scarcity will push the price to a new high and stabilize the whole system.

The product is backed by an extremely professional and thorough business mindset. Utopia's teams have already planned out their growth path throughout 2022 in detail. After the pre IDO, Utopia will focus on the launch of blockchain-based games to make sure the play-to-earn games will be a huge hit in the next few months.
