

Africa Biggest Entertainment Award under attack after J. Balvin wins the “Best Latin Artist Award of the Year.”

Newark, New Jersey Jan 3, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - The African Entertainment Awards USA 7th annual show has awarded Latino Grammy and Billboard award winner artist Jose Alvaro Osorio better known as J. Balvin, "The Best Latin Artist of the Year 2021". This was determined by our support of the Diaspora people who voted for J. Balvin on the AEAUSA platform website. The votes were calculated by our member voting department. This department reviewed the votes electronically and deemed them authentic. After releasing this statement to the public on December 26, 2021, the organization has been under attack both written and verbally on social media.

The President -Mr. Dominic Tamin releases this statement to the public after listening to the concerns of our audience. "We have decided to maintain the purpose of this award but changed the name to Best Latin Artist Of the Year." The Best Latin Artist category is for anyone in Latin America contributing to the African culture, especially the AfroBeat sound globally. "Tamin continues to say, "it is not based on race but more importantly based on pushing the African Music Culture on the world stage. This is the first year that we are introducing the category to include our Latin brothers and sisters who have embraced Afrobeats music within their platform. Please remember the nominees in this category had no say in their nomination or influence on the award show. Instead of voicing dissatisfaction, let us encourage these artists to continue bridging the gap between Africa and Latin America. We have addressed your concerns. We are asking for your continued support, assistance, and guidance in the nomination process for 2022.

Once again, AEAUSA awards the creativity of people on a global level. Therefore, we have decided to award J. Balvin as the winner. Let's learn from this and embrace change and unity through culture and race. President Dominic Tamin is open to dialogue. Visit AEAUSA website <https://aeausa.net/> and we thank you all.
