

Bitbyte will support more diverse trading systems

Afono, Eastern Jan 20, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Bitbyte, the world's leading cryptocurrency exchange, has announced the upcoming launch of an NFT auction house. On the basis of the original decentralized trading platform, it has added support for encrypted game NFT facility transactions and wider NFT asset transactions. At present, Bitbyte has reached cooperation with multiple projects in the GameFi field, which means that the NFT obtained by players from the game can be freely traded in Bitbyte.

Meanwhile, Bitbyte is continuing to list more token pairs and liquidity pools to enable more cryptocurrency exchanges. Bitbyte wants to be more than just another Uniswap. It wants to help Crypto enthusiasts have full ownership of crypto assets (including NFTs) and provide Binance-like trading depth while discovering and amplifying the value of cryptocurrencies, trade, earn, and social can be done easily in Bitbyte.

Openness and diversity are becoming Bitbyte's halo

In Web3, users can fully own their assets. To this end, Bitbyte's Swap initially started with Binance Smart Chain, and will enable cross-chain transactions in multi-chain deployments in the future. Bitbyte is building rich but simple financial instruments and is working hard to build liquidity, improve capital efficiency and manage risk.

We help the natives of the Metaverse to better connect through social squares and DAOs. Besides the transaction itself, everyone has multiple ways to make money at Bitbyte. Bounty tasks and the platform's constantly updated tools will allow you to experience better crypto services and become a winner for a long time to come.

In the future, maybe you only need the Bitbyte app to easily play the encrypted world.
