

Free Trade Zone in India for Hassle-Free Import-Export

OSV FTWZ in India offering complete logistic, storage and warehousing solutions.

Bellevue, Washington Jan 31, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Reduction, deferral, and even elimination of certain taxes, fees, and duties attract most international traders and businesses towards the free trade zones. Thanks to the logistics solution providers such as OSV, businesses can use the free trade warehousing zones for storing and maintaining their imported goods and goods that are to be exported at a later time. Since the introduction of the first free trade zone in India, OSV has been offering complete storage, warehousing, and logistics solutions to businesses that are involved in international import-export.

The free trade warehousing zones in Delhi, Noida, Gurgaon, Mumbai, and other locations come under the Special Economic Zones category. The Special Economic Zones (SEZs) are developed by the Indian Government for specific purposes. These zones facilitate well-organized and expansive warehousing and related infrastructure for boosting the international trade process and for improving overall economic growth. The first free trade zone in India from OSV can be used for storing goods and carrying out other value-added activities permitted by the customs law.

The FTWZ (free trade warehousing zone) in India can simplify the import, export, and re-export process with little to no dependency. Merchants can avail of several incentives and pertinent export benefits as part of the warehousing and logistics services offered by the logistics solution provider. Import-export companies may store their goods safely in these zones without paying any taxes or duties until re-exporting. It can reduce the flow of cash for the taxes and duties and reduce the shipping time as well.

Since the opening of its first free trade zone in India, OSV has been offering world-class storage, warehousing, and logistics solutions to traders across the globe. The FTWZs are strategically located in Delhi, Mumbai, Noida, Gujrat, Gurgaon, and other parts of the country. As a leading logistics solution provider in India, OSV is the first choice of businesses that look for safe, secure, temperature-controlled, humidity-free, and fully hygienic warehousing facilities across India.
