Lovmuse Short bob wigs are preferred by many women who want to be fashionable and unique. But how to make a bob wig show your beauty better among so many Bob's wears? Knowing how to make it flatter your face shape will be a very important skill.

1. Round face

Many people think the short bob hairstyle is not suitable for round-faced women, in fact, they can still be very beautiful if the hair does not adhere to both cheeks tightly. Wearing a side-parted short bob wig with some waves could reduce the feeling of roundness successfully. So short bob wigs with some waves are more suitable for round faces.

2. Oval face

The oval face is virtually the most perfect face shape, so it could open to any hairstyle and length. Sometimes leaving one-side fringe for bob hair can make your facial contours more prominent. Moreover, girls with oval faces could also be braver to try colorful bob wigs, like 613 blonde, honey blonde, 99J, or high light, which could add more vigour!

3. Square face

For this type of face, the angle is more obvious and will make people look a little bit serious. At this time, you need to use hair to frame your face shape. You can choose the hair length to your jaw position (8 or 10 inches according to hair textures), which softens the angle and weakens the feeling of seriousness.

4. Heart-shaped face

The heart-shaped face is a very popular face type recently, girls with heart-shaped face has generally much sharper chin, but the disadvantage is that cheekbone position is relatively high, so you could try a slightly shorter bob with bangs, which could more or less hide the cheekbones and show your exquisite chin!

5. Long face

If you have a long face, in order to balance the width shortage of face, you'd better choose a bob with more hair volume, so a curly bob wig no wonder will be a great choice, which visually shortens the length of the face.

Wish the above tips will help you get twofold results with half the effort on your way to beauty.
