

Marina Varbanova, MD, an Anesthesiologist with University of Louisville Hospital

Get to know Anesthesiologist Dr. Marina Varbanova, who serves patients in Louisville, Kentucky.

New York City, New York Jan 4, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - An established anesthesiologist, Dr. Varbanova is in practice at the University of Louisville Hospital, and serves as an Associate Professor within the Department of Anesthesiology and Perioperative Medicine at the University of Louisville.

The University of Louisville Hospital, an academic teaching and research hospital, is at the heart of the Louisville Metro area in downtown Louisville. It offers a second-to-none cancer center, world-renowned trauma team, and a uniquely streamlined, nationally accredited stroke center—the latest innovations in a history of world-class care.

A native of Bulgaria, Dr. Varbanova graduated with her medical degree from the Medical University at Sofia in 1989. Upon relocating to the United States, she completed her residency in anesthesiology at the University of Louisville Hospital in 2005, and her fellowship in cardiac anesthesiology at Jewish Hospital in 2006.

Anesthesiology is the medical specialty concerned with the total perioperative care of patients before, during, and after surgery. It encompasses anesthesia, intensive care medicine, critical emergency medicine, and pain medicine. Anesthesiologists have the primary responsibility of monitoring the patient's vital signs during surgery. In addition to basic measurements such as pulse, blood pressure, and temperature, they measure the patient's respiration.
