A cosmetic dentist in San Diego uses many techniques to improve the appearance and health of an individual's teeth. There are specialist techniques that focus exclusively on whitening the teeth to make them look brighter and more attractive. At the same time, other cosmetic dentistry techniques focus on improving the overall appearance of broken, missing, or damaged teeth. Some of the popular cosmetic dental treatments include the ones given below.

Tooth Whitening

The natural color of the teeth cannot be the same in every person. It varies extensively from person to person. An individual's lifestyle habits can also impact the color of the teeth. For example, for those who consume coffee and tea, the possibility of teeth getting discolored is higher than those who do not drink it regularly. Likewise, smoking also causes stains in the teeth. Professional teeth whitening services by cosmetic dentists in San Diego can be one of the best investments for those who want brighter teeth for a special event or are not satisfied with the color of their teeth. It is also much safer than using home teeth whitening kits that are available.

Veneers

A chipped tooth can be uncomfortable for those who have it. With dental veneers, the issue of chipped teeth can be resolved. It is invisible and lasts longer. Wafer-thin porcelain is placed in front of the tooth to regain the tooth's natural shape. It is coloured so that none of them except the person wearing it will be able to identify the veneers.

Crowns

Dental crowns can be an ideal choice for those with a single missing tooth. It is affordable, and these artificial teeth can be placed over the remaining part of the tooth to make it look natural. A crown can still be a perfect choice for those suffering from an entire row of missing teeth. However, the dentist in Radiant Dental Arts may necessitate a dental implant.

Dental Implants

Dental implants can be defined as replacement roots that are manufactured using titanium. One critical factor that makes dental implants an ideal choice is their unique capability to bond with the bone. It acts as one of the most robust mounts for a replacement tooth. The applications of dental implants are immense. It provides enhanced support to a single crown or bridge and an entirely new set of teeth. Upon completion of dental implant procedure by dentists at Radiant Dental Arts, a person feels good to have a smile that lasts for many years.
