While COVID struck the globe terribly, one cannot ignore the brighter side of the coin too! It was a boon for a virtual world where creative juices flew in great spirits. Dr. Radhika too initiated this front during this time and came up with the ideology of launching a podcast about her subject Pharmacology in April 2020.

It was quite a tender beginning with little knowledge about everything, though the efforts kept growing and took great shape as the year ended. By then, she had expertised in this field quite a lot and gained the bulk of experience and insights about topics, creation, etc she in fact relaunched her podcast afresh on Dec 12, 2020.

Since then, she had only bloomed and nurtured her knowledge and skills in this direction. On completion of Season 1 of her podcast, she wanted to mark this event as a Milestone, so she published the content of her podcast in the form of a book namely "Is Pharmacology Difficult" Book 1 (General Pharmacology). "IS PHARMACOLOGY DIFFICULT" Series consists of Books on different topics and Systems in the Subject of Pharmacology as a whole. There is a different colour of the SHOOTING STAR on the cover of each of the different books. A NEW COLOUR stands for a NEW TOPIC or NEW SYSTEM of the subject Pharmacology while the basic cover remains the same..:)

The podcast is distributed almost on all-important major platforms (Apple, Google, Spotify) while the book is available mainly as E-book everywhere and also in form of Paperback and Hardcover.

In the year 2022, a new book from her pen nib's chisels, namely "Scientific Writing from Scratch" has also been added to her inky etchings! She has also ventured into fiction writing skills with one of her books.

Today, in the year 2022, it is almost more than 2 years now of this "Rara Avis" endeavour, and still leading on the way to offer fresh, positive, and trending knowledge day by day!!

With few research works and all these efforts, Dr. Radhika certainly has shown commendable labour and diligence in her field and wishes to pursue this effort with great commitment and whole heartedly in the future also.
