

Ground Breaking for China's Largest Single Malt Distillery

A collaboration between whisky lovers in China

Longyan, Fujian Feb 21, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Da Chi, Xin Luo, Longyan, Fujian, China – groundbreaking on the biggest single malt whisky distillery in China.

At 3 am on Friday, 18th February 2022, the ground was broken and a foundation stone was laid in Da Chi village, Xin Luo district, Longyan, Fujian Province. The significance of the time is a once in 60 years event in traditional Feng Shui, the hour of the Four Black Water Tigers. The significance of the foundation stone is that upon it will be built the biggest single malt whisky distillery in China.

Nine Rivers Distillery is a project born out of a growing whisky culture in China and a network of monthly whisky events across the country. Whisky lovers who wanted to take their passion for whisky to the next level – to craft whiskies on the motivation of perfection over profit.

The project is built on a foundation of thousands of hours of research and development into all the processes that contribute to the aromas and flavors of whisky while concurrently minimizing energy usage through creating efficiencies. This has included the design and patenting of a unique still design, that complies with standards necessary to define single malt whisky (a batch distillation using a pot still made from copper) but uses less than 20% of the energy of the pot stills used in the production of Scotch whisky.

With 112 people from 19 different countries involved as Founders of the Nine Rivers Project, all united through a love of whisky, this project is a demonstration of how differences in nationality, religion, and race have little relevance when synergies can be created through a shared interest. It's also a testament to how China (despite various International narratives) welcomes International business initiatives.

On behalf of the entire Nine Rivers Distillery team, we would like to give our thanks to Dr. Harley Seyedin and the American Chamber of Commerce, South China - a non-partisan, non-government, non-profit business association that exists to provide support for its members' companies. It is with that strong support and introductions that enabled the Nine Rivers Distillery to reach this important milestone.
