More on Stewart Hidalgo

"If a person gets inspired to be creative in any way with my music. Music has always been a source of inspiration and comfort for me. If my own music can do the same to someone else, then I've paid it forward." - Stewart Hidalgo

Hailing from the melting pot of Los Angeles, CA is Latin Producer Stewart Hidalgo whose body of work tells of a story that bridges the sounds of Hip Hop, R&B, Pop, and Rock to produce the eclectic sonic palette you hear today. The premiere track, "Show U Off" is a smooth melodic collaboration between Stewart Hidalgo and rapper artist Thomas DaVinci that captures the poetic celebration of a fluttering love so undeniable you just can't hide it! The perfect tune to play on repeat for this Valentine's week.

With a love for the DIY ethos and a hunger to explore uncharted fresh new sounds, Stewart's sound echoes the diversity and versatility of his craft as a producer and his roots as a Latinx artist. Growing up, Spanish music-infused every inch of his childhood home, having birthed the core foundation and inspiration of his pursuit of music and how it was made. His first taste of production began when taking the reins of his early bands' records, always finding that music has been the source of creativity and comfort; a personal sanctuary amidst the ebbs and flows of life.

"As I got older I would listen to more English speaking music, but Latin culture is ingrained in me. Even though I would become obsessed with new music trends, I always go back to these Latin records and artists I love." - Stewart Hidalgo

Engineering and mixing-mastering-producing for an array of talent, Stewart's synergy to work with others always returns to the common love of music and pushing the boundaries to create something new and fresh. Stewart has worked with artists of all backgrounds from up-and-coming to some of the industry's best including: Theophilus London, Tame Impala, Lil Yachty, KYLE, MadeinTYO, Rich The Kid, and Giggs. With a number of projects in the works, including a slate of Latin-infused songs, the forthcoming EP Album "Useless Thoughts" is set to be announced in the coming weeks so stay tuned!

"Openly expressing emotions that would be hard to communicate through an everyday conversation with the intent to be understood. Personally, this is my message in a bottle to music." - Thomas DaVinci

More on "Useless Thoughts"

Despite the peak of a pandemic and living on opposite sides of the country as well as having gone through personal tragedies and family losses, Stewart and Thomas brought together a project that showcases the very soul of this love letter that we all can hear in the track. When speaking about the project, the duo stated how the power of music as a creative outlet continues to fortify their strength as producers in all projects, as an act of love and service to push others forward, uplift collaborative synergy, and help further inspire.
