

Crawfish Cravers Awareness Day March 20

Baton Rouge, Louisiana Mar 18, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - The official beginning of Spring is approaching, and coinciding with this season is an awesome food-awareness holiday. Crawfish Cravers Awareness Day is celebrated annually on March 20 to correspond with the beginning of Spring—a season considered among the best for crawfish. The holiday was founded by Greshun De Bouse a native of Louisiana—where approximately 93% of crawfish is in North America, and the first state to have crustaceans. Considering persons all over the world have enjoyed the succulent taste of crawfish for ages, Crawfish Cravers Awareness Day gives crawfish lovers one more reason to feast upon the crustaceans they love. For Crawfish Cravers Awareness Day 2022, the 20th person to tweet 'Happy Crawfish Cravers Awareness Day with three facts about the holiday (besides the date) @crawfishcravers will win a free crawfish meal at a restaurant selected by the holiday founder, compliments of Crawfish Cravers Awareness Day. The winner will be announced via Twitter. Crawfish Cravers Awareness Day founder says "It is imperative for persons to know the history of crawfish, and know what they're eating. As a Louisiana native, I am delighted to share Louisiana's culture and history with other states who have emulated it." The holiday encourages all to feast upon crawfish, acknowledge Louisiana contributions to the crawfish industry, and become knowledgeable about the crawfish they eat. The Crawfish Cravers Awareness Day Team states they plan to continue promoting Crawfish Cravers Awareness throughout the crawfish season. Happy Crawfish Cravers Awareness Day 2022.
