

Destination IAS Academy Launches App on Google Play Store

Recently, the leading IAS coaching institution located in New Delhi, India has launched a mobile application on Google Play Store. The sole purpose of this launch is to make coaching accessible to all who actually need it.

New Delhi, Delhi Mar 28, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Destination IAS Academy: Over the past decades, technology is overpowering different industries. The education domain is no exception to it. It is deeply influencing children and removing gaps in educating them from reputed and respected teachers, guides, and mentors.

Now, education is no more a legacy of a rich community, It's accessible to people all across the world. This is happening through mobile-run apps penetration in lives. It's super affordable and accessible. Recently, Destination IAS Academy has joined this regime. Now, an average person can afford to have UPSC training and coaching over the internet. This application is downloadable and extremely beneficial to those who want to be an achiever and try their luck in the UPSC examination.

Appearing and successfully passing through IAS or UPSC examinations are a dream that candidates see. Being prestigious and hard to crack, they prefer expensive coaching centers to ensure the best results. This is simply because it leads to acquiring government jobs and claiming a position of an IAS, IFS, and IPS together with many more ones. These positions are certainly prestigious because of the leverages they bring like PF, insurance, and many other government-run facilities.

UPSC stands for Union Public Service Commission, which offers hundreds of Group A and Group B level bureaucratic positions. However, there are Group C and Group D level recruitments, which are conducted by other government agencies and commissions. These are all civil and few defense services that one can secure by cracking this exam.

This is indeed challenging to pass through it. But, the accessibility of UPSC coaching through mobile-based applications has made it easier. Now, the interested candidates can access it 24/7 and draw maximum benefits out of it.

The real motto behind this launch for Destination IAS Academy is to bring learning in continuity at scale. There are thousands of people who give up their dreams to appear in the IAS examination just because of inadequate training. Now, this application can help them to connect with the most respected teachers, guides, and IAS coaches who were former IAS officers. This panel of excellent coaches helps them with its presence on the application. The students can be a part of their comprehensive and systematic approach there. It would certainly be a time-savior deal that is inexpensive also.

With it, candidates can get end-to-end assistance in the medium that they feel comfortable learning. It is available for students who can understand Hindi and English. The lessons, tutorials, and mock tests are designed very skillfully so that they can prepare themselves in an exceptional way.
