New York City, New York Mar 23, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - A prominent colorectal surgeon, Dr. Saeed is in practice at Saint Peter's University Hospital in New Brunswick, New Jersey.

Saint Peter's University Hospital has been serving the healthcare needs of central New Jersey for more than a century. From its simple beginnings in 1907, it has grown to become a technologically advanced, 478-bed teaching hospital that provides a broad array of services to the community. As an NJ state-designated acute care children's hospital, they offer a full range of specialized pediatric healthcare services, including one of the most sophisticated maternity programs, delivering as many as 5,800 newborns annually.

Throughout his career, Dr. Saeed graduated with his medical degree from the Ross University School of Medicine in 2001, and completed his residency in general surgery with Christiana Care Health in 2007. Finally, he completed his fellowship in colon and rectal surgery at the Lehigh Valley Health Network in 2008.

An expert in his field, the doctor is board-certified in the colon and rectal surgery and general surgery by the American Board of Colorectal Surgery (ABCRS) and the American Board of Surgery (ABS). The ABCRS and ABS are both independent, non-profit organization founded for the purpose of certifying surgeons who have met a defined standard of education, training, and knowledge.

Achieving fellowship status, he is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons (FACS), and a Fellow of the American Society of Colon and Rectal Surgeons (FASCRS).

Colorectal surgery is a field in medicine dealing with disorders of the rectum, anus, and colon. The field is also known as proctology, but this term is now used infrequently within medicine and is most often employed to identify practices relating to the anus and rectum in particular. A colorectal surgeon is a physician who specializes in the diagnosis and treatment of anorectal and colorectal conditions (conditions of the colon, rectum, and anus).

As a testament to his success, Dr. Saeed has been the recipient of the On-Time Doctor Award (2018, 2016, 2015), Compassionate Doctor Recognition (2018, 2015), and Patients' Choice Award (2018).
