APRNs may work across various healthcare settings, including hospitals, ambulatory clinics, or long-term care facilities. They provide medical support and preventative care to patients, along with additional responsibilities of coordinating patient care and using specialized knowledge to manage complex patient conditions. APRNs can diagnose and treat as well as order and interpret tests and prescribe medications.

On a more personal note, Kelsey attributes her success to her passion to care for patients and their families. She always wanted to work with people, and along with her interest in the medical field, she fell in love with nursing.
