

MATT HATTER: An Underground Gem From Louisiana Ready To Make His Presence Known In The Music Industry

Los Angeles, California Mar 16, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Matt Hatter is an on-the-rise recording artist from Louisiana. Louisiana has birthed some amazing industry talents, such as Boosie, Webbie, Young Boy, Kevin Gates, and more. Matt Hatter is the same level of talent, but a different style of artist altogether. In the beginning stages of his career he started out as a comedic rapper and such as Lil Dicky he decided to take his career to the next level. Like Lil Dicky, Matt Hatter is an exceptional artist whether being funny or being serious. His music is infectious.

Since doing so he has opened for artists such as HD4PRESIDENT. Matt Hatter stays far from a script and stays purely authentic to who he is. He wants to be funny but also respected within the culture. This year he is releasing a debut album along with several videos. This year he is also focused on getting back in the music scene performing at venues for the public. He states " I wanna get the respect from the OGS of the game, and show the world you ain't gotta fake it to be a successful artist". This will be a big year and his brand will continue to grow as he develops. This debut album release is highly anticipated. Everyone is excited about the project. In the meantime before his album releases be sure to check out his current EP which is now available on all streaming platforms for your entertainment. You will not be disappointed.
