

Nautilus Launches “GRINGOS” Tequila Cough Drops That Provides A Unique Cold Fighting Experience Of Tequila And Menthol

Is Tequila a Cure for the Common Cold?

GRINGOS Tequila Cough Drops

Tequila, Jalisco Mar 21, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Richard H. Davis, President, and CEO of Nautilus Biotech Corporation announced today on this Cinco de Mayo national holiday the official launch of a new patent-pending and innovative sore throat tequila cough drop called GRINGOS™ Tequila Cough Drops, that provides a unique flavor experience of tequila and menthol, which helps to support the feelings of clear breathing. GRINGOS Tequila Cough Drops provide fast, effective cough and sore throat relief. GRINGOS Tequila Cough Drops work quickly in those moments when you need fast relief -- from a cough or dry, scratchy, or sore throat.

Though the product won't get you buzzed, the company considers that a plus for people who might want the flavor of tequila without its effects. While there are many kinds of medicinal products that people take when they're feeling unwell, these products often make people feel drowsy and are not supportive of occasions when focus and clarity of mind are needed. In addition to Tequila, each GRINGOS Tequila Cough Drop contains the active Ingredient: Menthol at 4.8 milligrams as a natural Cough Suppressant and Oral Anesthetic.

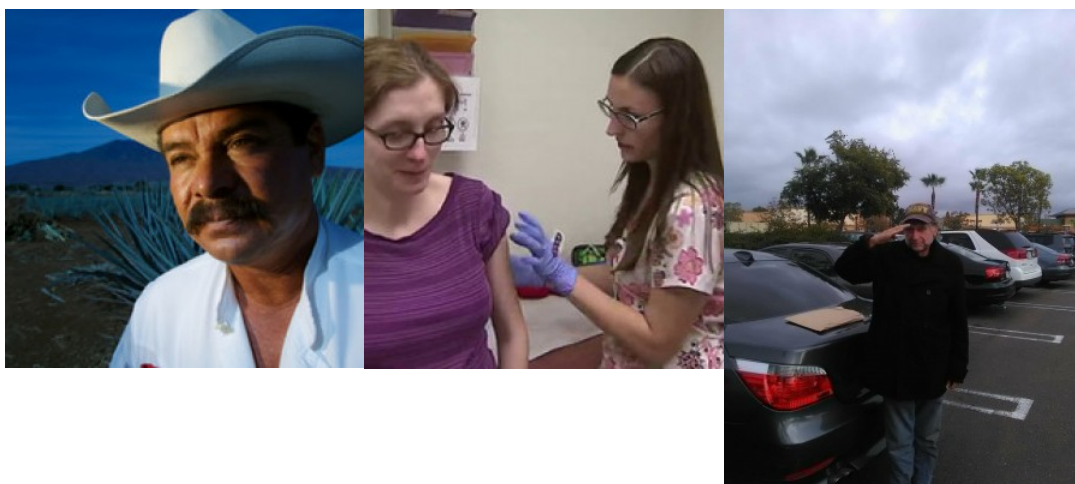

GRINGOS Tequila Cough Drops Is the brainchild of Davis, a combat veteran who developed the tequila sore throat remedy while sailing off Cabo San Lucas during oceangoing service as a United States Merchant Marine. Cabo is a resort pueblo on the southern tip of Mexico's Baja California peninsula, known for its breathtaking beaches and red-hot margarita nightlife. Mexican-American Newscaster: Monica Garcia of Arizona's 12 News (KPNX-TV, NBC) reported via YouTube recently that verified that tequila is not a cure for the common cold but it can definitely help with cold symptoms.
