What is a food License (FSSAI License)?

FSSAI stands for Food Safety Standards Authority of India, which is a statutory body established under the Ministry of Health & Family Welfare, Government of India. It has been established under the Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006, which is related to food safety and regulation in India. A food license is responsible for protecting and promoting public health through regulation and supervision of food safety.

Food License Registration

A food license is required for every person who wants to start a food business, who can involve in any kind of business like manufacturing, processing, distribution, or sale of food products, etc.

A food license consists of 14 digit license number, which can print on all the food packages item. It gives all information regarding the assembling and owner's permit.

The motive of registration is to make the food business operators more responsible that can maintain the quality of food products.

Types Of FSSAI License
