It's expected that the first two affiliates' spin-offs will take place in mid of May and at the beginning of August 2022.

This one-of-a-kind project has multiple goals to achieve in the following months. It's expected $180 stable market cap, a $40,000 charity donation, a complete total of 30 NFT collections, and much more.

DogeCoin Labs' ecosystem structure is:

- Anti-whale since wallets are limited to 10% of the total available supply
- Auto-deflationary because it reduces the supply with every buy and sell transaction.

- Anti-botting, so it's advisable not to buy any contracts before the official announcements on Twitter.

DogeCoin Labs will preserve its intrinsic value in bull or bear markets as a hyper-deflationary token.

According to the developers, DogeCoin Labs' mission is to allow everyone to enjoy the usefulness of a hyper-deflationary coin, NFTs, and the metaverse so that people can earn money in the hottest markets.

Investing in this unique project is easy as investors only need to set up a wallet address. There is no private information required from third-party entities as it's decentralized.
