After building a strong presence in the music industry, he created a YouTube channel that he uses for music and also to teach, provide tips, guide, and help fellow producers & artists to fit in the world of Music.

Farhan Ahmed is far from the usual and distant from the average. His life has been no ordinary walk in the park but is better known as a fight for liberty.

Farhan Ahmed is 26 years old born on 1 April 1997, Farhan Ahmed is a Pakistani male. He comes from a small family, his father is from Jamshoro, Pakistan, and his mother is from the states. He has had many hardships in his life but nothing has stopped him in the fight to press forward. Growing up on the south side of Fort Wayne he no what it's like to come up from nothing and work for everything you need or desire.

He feels that his music gives him the opportunity to unite people and express his true thoughts about his everyday life. "To write is one thing but to inspire another mind when you write is a totally different experience while making music". In his adolescent days, he loved to write poetry. He has always been good with words and comprehending the setting and languages of music. He grew up singing in all different types of choirs. Show Choir, All-state, Circle the state, and many more.

He has won numerous competitions for his singing and has also won many talent shows in school and out-of-school events. He feels as if he writing alone in his lyrics creating such a story that anyone who hears him can feel the pain that he has felt thru his voice and the sincerity in his music.

Farhan Ahmed loves music he listens to hundreds of songs daily. He likes to know words to all kinds of songs so he can get a cultural flow and understanding of every idea or creation a human has or can think of. He feels this is very important because if you limit your ears you limit your mind. He has been making songs since he was about 8 years old. To him, the reason music is so important is that it can change your mood within seconds of its interaction with your ears.

"When something can change your mood it's almost as if it has power over your feelings for that short period of time that you engage in the rhythm and melody of the song". He has always been the motivating kind of person.

He loves to put a smile on someone else face before he even can think to care about his needs of himself. He feels that music can define who you are and why you act a certain way at a certain time. When a tool given thru instruments can make such a change in society he looks at it almost as if it's just adding color and life to everyday things. Farhan Ahmed plays the Alto Saxophone, Piano, Drums, and viola so pitch, rhythm, and sound have never been a problem for him. He loves music and he will continue to pursue his dreams as long as he is alive to do so.
