

How to Start UPSC Preparation at Home? -PrepLadder

Chandigarh, India Apr 12, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - PrepLadder is a one-stop solution to all your learning needs and has everything you require to ace competitive exams such as Medical PG, CAT, UPSC, GATE, and NEET-SS. Lakhs of students have practiced, learned, and understood concepts in an easy-to-grasp manner with PrepLadder and now it's your turn.

No compromises should be made when preparing to crack UPSC CSE, India's most challenging exam, often known as the Mother of all Exams! Acing the UPSC IAS exam requires perseverance, dedication, laser-like focus, and access to the best study content.

If you have made up your mind about cracking the UPSC Civil Services Examination (CSE) but wonder how to start the UPSC exam preparation Online from scratch and at home, then this article is a must-read for you! Navigate through this article to get valuable insights and tips on how to initiate and prepare for CSE from home.

So, without further ado, let's get started!

Practical Tips to start UPSC preparation at HomeTip #1 Understand the UPSC Exam Syllabus:

It is imperative to have a clear understanding of what exactly you need to study. There's no point in studying an outdated curriculum! Knowing the UPSC CSE syllabus is the foremost thing to do before you go through the books. Hence, read the IAS syllabus thoroughly and understand the topics clearly.

Tip #2 Understand the UPSC Exam Format:

Just like the exam syllabus, having a thorough understanding of the UPSC exam format is crucial to accelerating your preparation journey with ease. The Civil Services Examination has three phases, namely:

- Preliminary Examination
- Mains Examination
- Personality Test (Interview Round)

Once a candidate clears all the above-stated rounds, he becomes eligible for joining the Civil Services in India. However, the journey to becoming a Civil Servant (IAS, IPS, IRS, IFS) isn't a smooth one.

You can only write the Mains examination if you clear the Prelims round. That means each level is an elimination round! Hence, you need to qualify each one to appear for the next one.

Tip #3 Cover the Entire Syllabus:

Once you are properly aware of the exam format and syllabus, make sure to cover the whole syllabus during your preparation. Don't practice selective studying. It is like inviting unnecessary trouble. You can't afford to study only a portion of the syllabus; instead, the syllabus has to be covered comprehensively. As a UPSC aspirant, you can't afford to leave any topic or chapter for granted.

Tip #4 Make Proper Notes:

Retaining the whole study curriculum of UPSC is only possible if you make summary notes. The reason is that quick summary notes are convenient, easy, and less time-consuming to go through. Having self-prepared notes handy helps focus on important topics/questions without wasting much of your crucial time. Note-making during your exam preparation helps in better retention of topics as it is your ultimate study guide. It boosts your confidence as well.

Tip #5 Devote extra time to General Knowledge & Follow Current Affairs:

As a UPSC aspirant, following current affairs and keeping a check on general knowledge is of utmost importance. A good grasp of general knowledge can be achieved by reading different books, journals, and articles. Reading newspapers daily is the most effective means of keeping yourself updated with current affairs.

Tip #6 Practice Answer Writing:

Unlike Prelims, the Mains examination demands written answers. Acquiring the habit of writing and mastering it is a prerequisite for scoring well in the Mains exam. This habit can accompany you a long way to a successful end of your IAS journey. Set aside some time to write your opinions and thoughts on current affairs and write essays on important events and happenings.

Tip #7 Keep Revising:

All of your study efforts can go waste if you don't revise. Since the UPSC syllabus is vast, it is impossible to retain it for a longer period. However, if you inculcate the habit of revision in your daily study routine, it will be much easier for you to prepare for the exam. Revision is the key aspect that enhances our memory and learning.

Tip #8 Analyze yourself:

Timely analysis of your preparation is the most vital tool for getting the desired results. Be accountable and responsible for yourself. Analyze your exam preparation regularly at the end of the day. Do a SWOT (Strength, Weakness, Opportunities, and Threats) analysis. Proper analysis will help you work on your weak areas and help you to prepare for the UPSC exam effectively.

Tip #9 Don't touch New Topics just before the UPSC Exam:

Never touch a new topic in the last 10/20 days before the exam. Learning an entirely new topic in these last few crucial days will only lead to confusion and anxiety. The main disadvantage of taking on a new topic is that it will interfere with what you've already learned. So, avoid it. Instead, revise what you have already studied. It will boost your confidence and allow you to focus more on important topics/chapters.

Tip #10 Solve Previous Year Papers and Take Mock Tests

Solving practice papers such as Mock Test Papers and Previous Year Papers while preparing gives you a tremendous amount of confidence. You get a fair bit of idea about how to present the answers in your exam. Attempting practice papers also gives you a reality check so that you can direct your preparation accordingly. The number of practice papers attempted during preparation is directly proportional to scoring good marks in the exams.

We hope these tips will assist you in your UPSC CSE preparation at home.

Preparing and cracking the Civil Services examination can become a cumbersome process in the absence of a reliable training partner. At some point in time, you will require assistance from experts and mentors to accomplish your study goals.

Kickstart your Civil Services exam preparation with PrepLadder, India's most trusted learning platform for UPSC CSE preparation, and transform your preparation from the Beginner level to the Advanced level.

PrepLadder is home to some unique features such as conceptual and engaging video lectures by the Dream Team comprising India's leading UPSC educators, exam-relevant and high yield QBank, highly competitive PrepTests based on real exam patterns, NCERT Notes, Monthly Current Affairs Magazine, Previous Year Papers in the form of tests, and much more.

Youtube Channel Link: Click Here.

So, what are you waiting for? Embark on your preparation journey with PrepLadder and enjoy quality learning like never before!

PrepLadder

pallavi.chauhan@prepladder.com

+91-9779421738

Head Office Rajiv Gandhi IT Park , Microtek Building, Plot A 12, Chandigarh 160101

Source : PrepLadder

See on IssueWire