

StankNasty: An Emerging Artist Ready To Make His Presence Known Within The Music Industry

Los Angeles, California Apr 22, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - StankNasty is an on the rise recording artist from outside of Chicago, Illinois. Hip Hop has always played a huge part in his life. As he has grown as an individual and has honed in on his true passion, he evolved from dance battles into becoming a rap artist. Music speaks to his soul. After tapping into his musical ability he has embodied what it means to be versatile. His ability to write and flow is unlimited as he is able to deliver any style almost seamlessly. When first beginning his career he started on the FL Studio DAW. In 2017-2018 he began to take his craft and brand seriously. Since then he has been staying dedicated and consistent, dropping content on a regular basis, working with one of the best engineers in Illinois, Gerald "The Genius" Leibnitz, owner, and operator of Soundation Studio.

Although an amazing artist, he is also very business savvy. Recently he was able to lock in an interview/performance at the grand opening of Chicago black-owned business WarrZone Beauty Shop, hosted by Power 92.3 Raw TV Radio. StankNasty is set to have another interview with the Chicago radio host of Fusion Radio on May 7th. StankNasty is working to make sure his name is known. He just released his latest single "My Own Lane" with vocalist Armando Gutierrez aka MVNDO. They will also be working on a visual for this single as well for their fans. StankNasty enjoyed having his fiancée Anays, who is an actress/model star in the video. StankNasty has a knack for making an impact within the industry and wants to continue growing to make a name for his brand. His versatility draws in listeners from all walks of life.

Currently, he is working on many projects. One of his projects set to release in the future is titled "Paranoia" featuring Tito Lopez who was a protégé of Dr. Dre. Another one is called One Man Army, which StankNasty will be pitching to a previous American Idol contestant that is well-known in Illinois. The next project set to release is titled "Thank You" featuring two amazing vocalists Just Jana and Ash'leye Braxton. His goals are to gain recognition for himself and perform at some of the biggest venues in Chicago to start. It's just the beginning for StankNasty.
