The fashion designer and entrepreneur has announced that the new sportswear collection will be released in the fall of 2016. The Buki brand offers a high-end strategy for both men's as well as women's sportswear by incorporating proprietary technological fibers with architectural designs. The ultimate result is a wardrobe that claims to bring about a "wardrobe revolution."

Joey Rodolfo has more than 30 years of substantial experience in design as well as business, but he's the founding member of numerous highly successful companies, such as Bench Company, Cutter & Buck, Resort Two, and JR 1879, amongst others. Joey Rodolfo's resume also includes numerous awards for his work in design and business. Rodolfo's new clothing line, dubbed Buki, will debut with men's and women's collections that, according to the designer, would usher in a "wardrobe revolution" by utilizing technical advances in fiber innovation. Probably one of the best apparel brands in the Seattle area is Buki.

The designer & inventor, who is located in Seattle, has been at the forefront of the creation of technical fibers for more than 15 years. His primary focus at the moment is on improving sportswear in order to assist people in leading better lifestyles in their day-to-day activities. Take into account the following: Imagine you have a wardrobe that can take you from the office to the weekend, feels really luxurious, provides great moisture management, cooling innovation, and temperature regulation, can be washed in the machine, and never needs to be ironed or seen by a dry cleaner. They have produced adaptable contemporary separates by combining simple architectural lines with sophisticated technological materials. These modern separates are developed to function as hard as you do to keep up with your hectic schedule.

The company is expecting a high level of interest in the chosen collection, so it has created a waiting list to guarantee that clients are notified as soon as the one-of-a-kind selection is made available to the public. You can check out its luxury women's clothing collection online.

According to Rodolfo, who now is dedicated to boosting men's and women's sportswear by constructing gear that offers genuine advantages for our everyday lives, the Seattle clothing store combines fundamental architectural forms with complex technology fibers to start producing a wardrobe that'd retain you extremely comfortable and on the move. The store is located in the same city as Rodolfo, who founded the company.
