He also serves as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Emory University.

Graduating with his medical degree from the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey in 1983, he completed his internship at the New York-Presbyterian Hospital at Columbia, and his residency in obstetrics and gynecology at the Beth Israel Medical Center.

Recognized as a Fellow of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists (FACOG), the doctor is board-certified in obstetrics and gynecology by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology (ABOG). The mission of the ABOG is to define specialty standards, certify obstetricians and gynecologists, and facilitate continuous learning to advance knowledge, practice, and professionalism in women's health.
