

CryptoNewsLeak.com Provides Three Opportunities (inc VSTMEX) You Can Work From Home

The good news has arrived—enjoy crypto opportunities while working from home!

Los Angeles, California Jun 2, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - Aiming to empower ordinary readers to adapt to the latest advancements in bitcoin, crypto, and blockchain technology, CryptoNewsLeak.com is formed. Our team believes that creativity and innovation are the most influential forces in today's business. Thus, we remain collaborating experts, creating innovations, and caring for humanity through news updates, leaks, and insights.

Work from home opportunities are making our lives easier, but finding suitable options takes you to a subsequent challenge. While a lot of us are looking for ideal jobs that would fit your relevant skills, there are opportunities you must not miss—one of which involves cryptocurrency.

Yes, crypto is now the new currency language. It has already been in various facets of trading: buying and exchanging bitcoins, investing in crypto assets, monetizing non-fungible tokens (NFTs), and more.

Interestingly, statistics of a Singaporean blockchain and cryptocurrency solutions company, TripleA, reveal that global crypto ownership reaches an average of 3.9%, with over 300 million crypto users worldwide. Crypto.com also suggests that global crypto users can reach 1 billion by 2022.

Now, you're given the idea of what opportunities you can find on this timely, relevant blockchain technology. In this article, we will help you find three crypto opportunities you can work from home:

#1 Apply for Gigs that Pay Crypto

Did you know that you can earn crypto as your salary nowadays? This may sound interesting to you, but this could be the face of workplaces in the future!

Some workplaces have become virtual on the verge of the pandemic and have continuously remained on virtual platforms. Most companies have maximized a work-from-home setup by following health measures and protocols.

But more importantly, this innovation has paved the way for a new pool of talents, especially in the tech industry. Today, in-demand work-from-home crypto jobs are web designing, social media management, blockchain development, copywriting, marketing associates, etc.

More often, positions are available according to work experience and skills. Work rates can be hourly or project-based. Nevertheless, some companies may provide training and orientations for the post.

Is your portfolio ready? If so, here are some websites you can apply from:

LaborX.com - an on-demand work platform built by Chrono.tech, an Australian blockchain. This website connects to freelancers and customers through smart contracts, which provide solid protections and efficient blockchain payments — wherever the different parties are based.

PromptCryptoJobs - a simple and straightforward job board for careers in Bitcoin and cryptocurrency. This job post platform allows the best talents to search and access top companies in the crypto industry, such as Kraken, Coinbase, Inc., Chain, etc.

Blocklancer - similar to previous websites, this job platform provides available job posts that will match current trends. The only exception is that the work here pays in Ethereum (ETH).

#2 Invest in Crypto Trading and Exchange

Crypto trading and exchange pay big in the industry. Today, crypto trading is not a matter of hobby for the rich, but now it has become a profession for the rising crypto economy.

Like yourself, everyone has the opportunity to invest in crypto trading and exchange.

Most companies require your primary knowledge of how crypto and blockchain work and your ability to trade crypto assets along with the bull and bear markets in a work-from-home setup.

And yes, it is possible to earn $100 a day with cryptocurrency.

What do you need?

You need to prepare yourself by attending a series of training. Also, you must carefully select which crypto trading companies, providing a holistic learn and earn platform.

A good feature is VSTMEX — a premium inclusive crypto exchange with multi-ways to trade and earn. This platform provides professional and secure digital assets trading and management services inclusively.

Trusted by millions of users worldwide, the mission of VSTMEX is to help crypto beginners to achieve their fullest potential. VSTMEX has a sleek, straightforward app for an accessible mobile crypto trading and exchange.

What are the perks of becoming a member?

- Learn from and follow the top traders in trading and earning
- Monetize social media traffic and build up a team and gain more reward rebates from the teams
- Earn through task rewards, trading profit, arbitrage earning, and team commission
- Get a free BTC for free!

Ultimately, your privacy and data are highly safe since VSTMEX is compliant with KYC and AML laws and licensed through various money service businesses (MSB) and money transmitters in Canada, the United States, Australia, and Lithuania.

#3 Start an Ecommerce Website or Online Store

If you have an entrepreneurial mindset with the goal to expand your market deals across various platforms, perhaps, starting an ecommerce website or online store is the best work-from-home option!

Starting an online store attracts a valuable client base around the world. The best ecommerce models, Rakuten, Amazon, and Alibaba, have clearly shown how far borderless trade has come. You can also set up your own ecommerce website featuring your products and services.

Depending on your niche, a newly set eCommerce store can make an average of $63,000 in monthly income while at $127,000 a year.

To start, here are some e-commerce website builders that allow you to accept crypto payments:

Here are some e-commerce website builders that allow you to accept Bitcoin payments:

- WooCommerce
- Shopify
- Magento
- WIX
- GoDaddy

Additionally, there are even ready-made payment engines that support crypto payments. Some examples include CryptAPI, Coinpayments, and Shopify Gateway.

Key Takeaways

The good news has arrived—you can enjoy crypto opportunities while working from home. You can enjoy a work-life balance while earning competitive pay. Nevertheless, you can be your own boss and leverage your skills!

Have you assessed your skills? Make sure that you are ready for the grand crypto opportunity ahead!
