The oral cavity is like the gate to our body, many systemic diseases have oral manifestations or are linked to oral diseases, an example of this is Diabetes and periodontal disease. The periodontal disease will affect the bone and gums that surround the teeth, for a patient with uncontrolled diabetes, the periodontal disease will become more severe and can even lead to losing the teeth. Some studies have shown that one sign of a patient with undiagnosed diabetes could be the presence of severe periodontal disease. Dentistry, also known as Dental and Oral Medicine, is a branch of medicine that consists of the study, diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of diseases, disorders, and conditions of the oral cavity. Dentists diagnose and treat dental issues and help patients develop better oral hygiene regimens. They clean teeth, correct bite issues, perform surgeries and extractions and perform other duties to ensure that the teeth and mouth are healthy.

When she is not in the office, Dr. Hernandez enjoys interior design and going to the beach with her family. She, her husband, and her daughters enjoy spending time together, and they travel to Cuba almost every year to see their extended family.
