Pursuing her training, she completed her residency in family medicine at the University of Tennessee Medical Center at Knoxville in 2015.

With an unwavering commitment to her specialty, the doctor is board-certified in family medicine by the American Board of Family Medicine (ABFM). The ABFM is a non-profit, independent medical association of American physicians who practice in family medicine and its sub-specialties.

In good standing with a number of professional organizations, Dr. Hall is a member of the American Academy of Family Physicians, the Tennessee Academy of Family Physicians, and the American Medical Association.

Family medicine is a medical specialty devoted to comprehensive health care for people of all ages. The specialist is called a family physician or family doctor. A family physician is often the first person a patient sees when seeking healthcare services. They examine and treat patients with a wide range of conditions and refer those with serious ailments to a specialist or appropriate facility.

Outside of practicing medicine, Dr. Hall's personal interests include riding horses, farming, gardening, canning, doing yoga and pilates, weight lifting, meditating outdoors, reading, and playing computer games.
