

Kounotori Token ($KTO) Soars with a Stunning New Look and Whitepaper Release

The Developers of the most transparent and safest project in crypto are proud to present their Whitepaper and a striking new look to investors!

Phase 1

- Kounotori conceptualisation ✓
- Social media and website creation ✓
- Initial community building ✓
- Litepaper release ✓
- Certik contract audit ✓
- Solidproof KYC audit ✓
- CoinGecko listing ✓
- CoinMarketCap listing ✓
- Marketing and Influencer reach ✓
- Initial research ✓

Phase 2

- Kounotori NFTs ✓
- Low tier exchange listings ✓
- Staff expansion ✓
- Brand and website redesign ✓
- Whitepaper v1 release ✓
- Exchange R&D phase
- Marketing and influencer reach
- Listing on De-Fi platforms ✓

Phase 3

- Exchange development
- Private testing
- Stress testing
- Exchange audit
- Public beta testing
- Exchange marketing campaign
- Listing on top 50 CEX

Phase 4

- Exchange launch
- Governance (NEST council)
- Listing smallcap De-Fi projects
- Listing on top 20 CEX

Phase 5

- Staking launch
- Set $KTO tax to zero
- NFT staking launch
- Kounotori Payment Card
- Exchange Mobile App
- Google Pay implementation
- Apple pay implementation
- Recurring deposits on Exchange
- Listing on top 10 CEX

Phase 6

- Kounotori blockchain development
- Migrate $KTO to blockchain
- Stablecoin launch

London, United Kingdom May 5, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - Kounotori, a project that launched on the Ethereum network on December 3rd, 2021, boasts a fully Doxxed Dev team, several security features, as well as manipulation-resistant tokenomics. With the help of Tech Alchemy, the #1 Blockchain Agency (source: www.clutch.co) in the world, the Kounotori Dev team aims to launch its centralized exchange (CEX) with a staking platform where the Kounotori Token will take center stage and offer the highest rewards in a stable coin such as USDT.

The intention of the project's centralized exchange (CEX) is to offer KYC approved projects of all sizes a low-cost exchange listing, something that is unheard of in crypto, to date. Kounotori's Whitepaper describes "adopting elements of centralization into Kounotori would be essential to our longevity as a serious, and competitive contender in the currently oversaturated cryptocurrency market." The Whitepaper goes on to explain the project's ultimate purpose: "We are dedicated to ensuring its security, stability, and the ability to provide sustainable staking returns for our holders for years to come, and we are confident that this strategy will propel us towards our goal of becoming one of the biggest centralized exchanges in the De-Fi space."

The Whitepaper illustrates a 6-phase "flightpath" of which the first two phases are already complete. Exchange development and testing will take place in Phase 3, with the launch slated for Phase 4. The launch of the integrated staking platform, which aims to pay 20% APR in stable coins like USDT & USDC will be a key milestone of Phase 5 along with a mobile app for the CEX. Phase 6 will see the launch of Kounotori's blockchain and stable coin.

The project's three-tiered NFT collection, created by artist Whon Jick and consisting of Valley Storks, OG Valley Storks, and Nintai was airdropped to early holders as a "thank you" from the Dev team. This art will have its utility and perks within the centralized exchange.

With the project fully defined and work underway on the deliverables, the Dev team came to the realization that they had outgrown the project's current logo and appearance. It was time for a refreshed, professional appearance, one that would match the ambitions and intentions of the project.

"Our Whitepaper will be a game-changer," says Gerion, Kounotori Project Lead. "Trust the process and trust us, we are here for you no matter what. The price right now is what it is, but this community is our greatest achievement."

Marketing/Creative Lead for the project, Lee, had this to say about the Whitepaper, the project's direction, and its new look: "Hard work is paying off. I do not doubt that in a year's time I will be earning a wage from staking rewards on Kounotori's exchange."

To review the Whitepaper and experience the project's fresh new look visit the project's official website - www.kounotoritoken.com

-Kounotori Token

Media Contact

Kounotori Token

Artemis09001@gmail.com

Source : Kounotori Token

See on IssueWire