Taking home, the title of World's Best Polish Vodka, EXTILL adds to its history of winning luxury vodka awards.

Warsaw, Poland May 25, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - Globally prominent luxury vodka brand EXTILL won yet another award at the 2022 Annual World Vodka Awards, this time named the World's Best Polish Vodka. Recognized in 2020 as a gold medal winner at both the International Spirits Challenge and The Vodka Masters, this latest award is another addition to a growing trophy case.

EXTILL continues to be the beverage of choice for luxury vodka enthusiasts, market dominance confirmed with the prestigious honor. Consumers who value luxury choose Polish vodka for its strong but smooth taste, as well as its natural, organic production process without additives.

Previous gold medals have recognized EXTILL as a rising brand in the luxury vodka space. Now, following the latest recognition for the brand, it has compelled serious and casual vodka tasters alike to try the EXTILL.

Out of the over 1,000 different vodka brands worldwide, EXTILL stands out as a leader in the luxury vodka space. Combining nature and luxury, the vodka is made from a rare Single Estate in one of the most snow-covered regions on earth. Naturally buried in snow for over 80 days, the rare Organic Dankowskie rye proves to be the secret to the prestigious vodka's success.

The category EXTILL was recognized for was the Best Pure Neutral Polish Vodka. The award description from judges was read at the event, recognizing the brand.

"Clean with a sublime texture some character on the nose but then a very neutral plate with a sprinkle of cracked black pepper, really delightful, very sippable with a glowing warmth."

The taste it speaks to is made possible by the process by which the vodka is made. Using rare organic dankowskie platinum rye and combining it with glacial spring water, EXTILL distills the Vodka a minimum of seven times. It then goes through a process of carbon filtration seven times, granite filtration seven times, and quartz filtration yet another seven times.

The result? Award-winning vodka, and one of the most enjoyed around the world. The simplicity found in EXTILL's luxury vodka is rarely found in a modern beverage. After all, the ingredients are difficult to find, coming from only a small unpopulated Polish region. However, this is exactly what makes vodka the highest quality. The organic quality of EXTILL is a vodka that stands out among others, as an international drink of choice.

EXTILL's theme of simplicity and luxury is also showcased in the vodka bottle. The packaging is made to showcase the Terroir from where EXTILL originated. The bottle was created after multiple integrations between two top design houses from East & West, and it features diamond aesthetics and is made with premium-grade crystal glass decorated with iridescent effects of nature which are very discreet and change the view from every different angle.

This luxury bottle stands out, and the vodka found inside equally impresses.
