

NFT creatively documents the LUNA crash

Creative attempt to minimize the damage from the LUNA crash with an NFT.

Furstenfeldbruck, Bayern May 31, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - During the big crash of the cryptocurrency LUNA three weeks ago, investors had to accept heavy losses. The currency fell by 99.98 percent within two days. One of the people affected has now used an NFT to impressively demonstrate how large the loss can actually be. The NFT shows a Terra LUNA wallet containing 500,000 LUNA. The value of such a wallet would be within a month of $47 million to $93. To make aware of the dangers of trading and investing in cryptocurrencies - and of course, to compensate for his loss a little - has now a victim decided to document the process with the help of an NFT. The NFT shows the mentioned wallet and the corresponding price history. The NFT is now available for purchase.

External links:

Link to the NFT: <https://opensea.io/collection/luna-crash-attack-436028432>

LUNA chart: <https://coinmarketcap.com/de/currencies/terra-luna/>

News for the LUNA

crash: <https://www.businesstoday.in/crypto/story/terra-luna-crashes-99-will-it-fall-beyond-100-find-out-here-333387-2022-05-12>

Media Contact

LUNA Crash Attack NFT

twaldorf@gmail.com

Source : Private Source

See on IssueWire