

Optimization of AECO Ecosystem

Cambridge, United Kingdom May 19, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - To AECO Community:

AECO is always grateful to all the community members who are working and contributing to the AECO. The main reason AECO never stops trying is we believe that AECO is doing the most valuable thing. There are many challenges await in the blockchain industry. Such as the most widespread application scenario-Decentralized digital assets trading, but its relative tools and infrastructure still have rooms to grow, which reminds us of Web 1.0 time. This must have to change, which is always the mission of AECO. AECO is very happy to say we are one step closer to success.

After months of hard work, AECO will take the AECO ecosystem as the core and build the all-around AECO ecosystem layout of the exchange consortium layer, public chain layer, Dapp layer, and ecosystem.

AECO will support easily cross-chain digital assets exchange, one-click build an Exchange, one-click issue a token, one-click aggregate mortgage, and one-click issue contract. As an EVM compatible and high-performance underlying public chain, AECO provides integrated tools like contract market, NFT market, and DEX Engine module. AECO helps developers make valuable applications easily.

In order to help AECO stand out among the range of projects. Considering its differences in digital assets trading applications, the AECO community will apply a more open cooperation strategy. For example, we design a “DEX consortium” based on liquidity sharing AECO Swap pool. It will definitely initiate more DEX ideas. Who can reject the profit from other people's toil? Anyone who has been in the Blockchain industry for years will know every little make. Logically, everyone can make a DEX on the AECO ecosystem so that they can invite more traders. All of that is driven by profit.

AECO believes that letting users do free work is the moral default and will not last in the crypto world. Therefore, AECO will not only provide the most convenient, time-saving, and efficient experience but also helps users to gain more profit. Everything we make for the community will benefit our community members. AECO would like to share this value. Come and build AECO together with us.
