

SubMeet Provides Matches in Both Business and Love

Users can network with potential business partners or love matches through SubMeet's secure website, now available.

Vanadzor, Lori May 5, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - SubMeet, an international web-based (desktop version and mobile browser version) business and dating service, announces its secure website is now available for use. The online service links business and dating because many times, the two are not mutually exclusive. While dating in the workplace is often frowned upon by corporations, it does happen, and the team at SubMeet thinks both facets of life can certainly be intertwined. SubMeet wants its patrons to find exactly what they want from an online matching service, be it a business partner, a life partner, or both.

SubMeet's dating service includes 11 free features such as searching through other users' profiles, messaging, posting public photos, and other features common to free dating and social media platforms. Additional features are available through purchasing credits, including the ability to share "secret" photos that are viewable behind the credit paywall. These "secret" photos are personal photos (not including other individuals) and can be curated to the poster's desire, whether that means scantily clad or elegantly dressed. Credits can be purchased any time at a rate of 11 credits per 99 cents (i.e. $9 = 100 credits). The user can also distribute their balance credits - from one user to another(s) on the SubMeet platform, and can also cash them out in banknotes (transfer to a bank card) or in cryptocurrencies.

On the business side, SubMeet offers opportunities to advertise brands, companies, or products, build presentations, boost web SEO on SubMeet's site and external sites, and provide options for conducting business deals directly on the platform. To activate a business account, users must simply fill out the online form and submit links to their website or social pages that they wish to promote on SubMeet. Business accounts are 100% free to create.

Highly active users are also encouraged to join SubMeet's team of moderators (Work From Home), who can receive salaried positions to moderate particular areas of the site. These users must hold at least the VIP Role and 50 VIP followers on the platform. Each quarter, SubMeet grants select verified users with bonus credits to use within the platform on various paid features, and these are given to users who may have a photo that appeared on the "Featured" section, posted a highly rated article that month, or are considered a "Top User."

SubMeet offers 7 total roles for users to take part in. Many of these roles are free to obtain, and two require payment to gain access:

- Free Role: no payment required
- VIP Role: no payment required
- General Role: $270 for a 3-year membership
- Marshal Role: $450 for a 3-year membership
