

William M. Dugan Jr., MD, Hematologist-Oncologist

Get to know Hematologist-Oncologist Dr. William M. Dugan Jr., who serves patients throughout the State of Indiana.

New York City, New York May 18, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - A hematologist-oncologist, Dr. Dugan Jr. is a cancer specialist trained in blood disorders and the medical treatment of malignancies.

In the state of Indiana, he is affiliated with Columbus Regional Hospital, Community Hospital East, Community Hospital North, Woodlawn Hospital, Margaret Mary Health, Indiana University Health University Hospital, and Parkview Wabash Hospital.

“I’ve been a practicing medical oncologist for over 36 years, and the most gratifying work I have done is what I do in the rural hospital setting every week. Hardly a day goes by that a patient doesn’t thank me for not having to drive long distances to receive cancer care” expressed the doctor.

Graduating with the class of 1963 at the Indiana University School of Medicine, Dr. Dugan Jr. went on to further his studies. He performed his internship, residency in internal medicine, and fellowship in hematology and medical oncology at the said establishment in 1964, 1967, and 1968, respectively.

A provider of educational programs to patients, families, physicians, and nurses, he served as the co-founder and president of Community Cancer Care in Indianapolis, as an assistant clinical professor at the Indiana University School of Medicine, and as the co-founder of the Quality of Life Foundation.

An active cancer researcher, Dr. Dugan Jr. is board-certified in medical oncology and internal medicine by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM). The ABIM is a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

Obtaining membership status, he is an active member of the American Society of Clinical Oncology.

Hematology is the branch of medicine concerned with the study of the cause, prognosis, treatment, and prevention of diseases related to blood. Oncology is a branch of medicine that deals with the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of cancer. A hematologist-oncologist is a physician who specializes in the diagnosis, treatment, or prevention of cancer, malignant blood diseases such as leukemia, lymphoma, and multiple myeloma, and blood disorders such as iron-deficiency anemia, clotting abnormalities, hemophilia, and sickle-cell disease.

Recognized for his work, Dr. Dugan Jr. is the 2005 recipient of the Rural Health Practitioner of the Year Award. National Rural Health Association’s 28th Annual Conference in New Orleans, the award recognizes the rural health leader whose dedication and commitment exemplify the highest standards of rural health care and service.

Dr. Dugan was honored for his outstanding contributions made to health care in rural areas for over 23 years and is the first specialist to win the award.

Learn More about Dr. William M. Dugan Jr.:

Through his findatopdoc profile, <https://www.findatopdoc.com/doctor/2165450-William-Dugan-Hematologist-Oncologist>

About FindaTopDoc.com

FindaTopDoc is a digital health information company that helps connect patients with local physicians and specialists who accept your insurance. Our goal is to help guide you on your journey towards optimal health by providing you with the know-how to make informed decisions for you and your family.

Media Contact

Your Health Contact

clientservice@yourhealthcontact.com

Source : William M. Dugan Jr., MD

See on IssueWire