

Indepak Launches New Custom Thermoform Packaging Service

The custom packaging service provides quality packaging solutions made from thermoplastic materials that can be molded into any shape or size.

Portland, Oregon Jun 24, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Indepak, a company that provides thermoform packaging solutions, has recently launched a custom packaging service for businesses that face challenges finding favorable and fitting packaging solutions for their products. The company has been supplying packaging materials to multiple businesses from a variety of industries including retail, specialty foods, electronics, medical, and agriculture; and with this launch, it aims to expand its range of services with the capacity to produce more unique, specific and versatile packaging solutions.

To produce designs that match specific requirements, the company collaborates with clients right from the stage of conceptualization to creating prototypes, and ultimately to production. The design process uses CAD (Computer-aided design) technology to come up with a form most suited for the clients' product, which is then made into a solid model design. Production of packaging units only starts when the prototype is approved by the client. This robust and well-organized sequence of production processes helps to ensure that there is no lapse of communication between the parties, eliminating any chance of producing a quality packaging design other than clearly approved by the client.

During the launch, company owner Dave Aho said, "There is nothing more rewarding than seeing the satisfaction of clients over our service. We value that more than anything else, even more than money, and that is what we strive for. We are committed to providing premium quality products for competitive prices so that our clients get the most value out of our service.

Credit to its multiple lines of top quality, high-speed equipment, and tools, the Custom Packaging service provided by Indepak is rapid and cost-effective, affordable even for small businesses.

Its commitment to maintaining a high level of quality control and exemplary customer service also adds value to its service and products.
