Get to know Internist Dr. Johanna H. Klein, who serves patients in Brookline, Massachusetts.

New York City, New York Jun 14, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Named among the Exceptional Women in Medicine in the last three years and one of Boston Magazine's Top Docs™ in Internal Medicine for the past five years, Dr. Klein is a board-certified physician who has been practicing in the Boston area for over 25 years. She currently serves patients at her private practice - Amory Medical - in Brookline, Massachusetts.

With extensive experience in both hospital and outpatient practice, she is an expert provider who tirelessly strives to achieve the highest level of care for her patients. Her kind, caring bedside manner makes it easy to communicate medical concerns, giving patients a trusted advocate who is truly focused on improving overall health and wellness.

An Alpha Omega Alpha graduate of the Boston University School of Medicine, Dr. Klein completed her residency in internal medicine at Beth Israel Hospital and Harvard Medical School, where she is currently an Instructor.

As a testament to her success, the doctor is board-certified in internal medicine by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM). The ABIM is a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

Maintaining membership status, she is a proud member of the American College of Physicians, the American Medical Association, and the Massachusetts Medical Society.

Internal medicine is the medical specialty dealing with the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of adult diseases. Physicians specializing in internal medicine are called internists. They manage and prevent common and complex diseases by providing comprehensive care and promoting overall well-being.
