

Johnson & Ray are Taking Their Music and Production to Another Level

Team Johnson & Ray Continue to Release and Collaborate on New Songs

New Orleans, Louisiana Aug 26, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Vicki Johnson & Nick Ray are seasoned and credited in the industry they both thrive. This team of professional collaborating and creative forces was born into musical families, and they both share the same values of performance and the substance of what they produce. These two exceptional talents have embarked on a partnership to; combine their prospective crafts in pitching both their Music Catalogs, Co-Write Songs together, Promote and Produce Events, and even sharing with other Collaborators to broaden their sights on diversified art. The reactions from not only fellow industry leaders and musicians but aspiring hopefuls in this profession as well have been received with great favor and acknowledgment. Johnson & Ray both remain independent artists, and continue to pitch their works with vigor and enthusiasm.

Although this team came together with histories of already established credits and notoriety in their own levels of entertainment, this combination is on fire. Possessing humble and ethical beliefs on both sides, this pair of artistic entities exude levels of professionalism and approach. To date, Johnson & Ray has been recognized for its music and production qualities under both signed and independent forums. Just recently, Ray has been procured by Show4me Music Interaction Network, where he is a host for webinars on demand with this network, and will be sitting on a panel at the SXSW Music Conference in Austin, Texas 2023. Ray's level of showmanship and progressive skill sets in his craft caught the eye of the network producers and the board for this panel. His wealth of information will be shared on this very well-respected platform.

Johnson, on the other side of the coin, not only claims her credits as a Songwriter/Lyricist, but she has a 30+ year tenure as a Senior Publicist collectively under the IATSE 600 Camera Guild, as an Independently Contracted Personal Publicist, Publicity and Events Coordinator, as well as a Professional Speechwriter, Poet, and Published Author. She is currently at the forefront of press and publicity for Johnson Ray Music+ and represents Ray as his Personal Publicist for events and media engagements where applicable. Together the progression of art is unfolding into their A-Teams, and both Johnson & Ray are on a steady course. Most importantly, they believe in each other and the heart that is going into their lifelong aspirations in music. Humbly speaking. They have just begun.
