Singapore, Singapore Jul 12, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - Adpost.com Free Classified Ads Website Introduces New Polygon NFT Marketplace

Dateline: Singapore

Adpost.com is announcing the initial opening of the new NFT Marketplace for a limited number of users who will focus on Beta Testing and testing the site to ensure its capabilities and functionality.

The initial phase of testing requires the creation of an Adpost.com account and the installation of the MetaMask on the browser being used. From there, the selected users will be able to begin the creation of a new NFT Collection on the Polygon Blockchain.

User participation is limited at this time and will be restricted to active users so as to ensure the efficacy of the NFT Marketplace. Upon satisfactory verification that the site is fully functional, only those users who have remained active will be allowed to continue participating in future testing.

Active Users will be those who have created at least one NFT collection, purchased an NFT through the NFT Marketplace, create or bid in NFT auctions, or are otherwise active on the site.

The NFT Marketplace is being set up in the first phase to handle users that are new to the world of Blockchain technologies and the NFT Markets. However, user participation in Beta Testing will be highly selective.

Future advances for the NFT Marketplace include the introduction of Multichain Options and the introduction of a more comprehensive digital goods and services marketplace. Advances can only be undertaken after a sufficient level of testing has been completed by the Development Team in charge of the NFT Marketplace.

Adpost.com is actively seeking interested users to participate in the testing phase of the NFT Marketplace introduction. Active users may or may not be selected for the continuation of testing, and may or may not be selected for other options and benefits subject to availability and other restrictions as may apply.
