Bay Voyager sightseeing tours also allow you to appreciate the city's skyline. You can see the Salesforce Tower, Coit Tower and lighthouse, and the Transamerica Tower from the water. The Salesforce Tower is the tallest building in the city.

San Francisco is renowned for its history. Most people do not even know that Angel Island in the city functioned as the West Coast's Ellis Island or that Alcatraz Island was used for a short while as a college for Native Americans from California. The boat rides by Bay Voyager take you to Fort Mason, which was used as a base by the US Army for more than 100 years and played a significant role during World War II. Even today, the US military uses the housing area of the fort while the rest of the space is utilized by the local community.

Another attraction that you will visit will be the Point Bonita Lighthouse. Located at the peak of Hawk Hill, this lighthouse has the distinction of being one of the oldest in the West Coast. It was also the first lighthouse on the West Coast to use fog signals.

Many of the ships and vessels from the days gone by are still docked along the Embarcadero and Fisherman's Wharf.
