

HEIGHT Magazine continues to Elevate

HEIGHT Magazine to introduce new documentaries and returns to New York Fashion Week

HEIGHT

MAGAZINE TV

WATCH NOW

BIG DADDY KANE

A photograph of Big Daddy Kane sitting at a table. He is wearing a brown Louis Vuitton bucket hat and a matching brown Louis Vuitton jacket over a light-colored sweater. He has a grey beard and is looking directly at the camera with a serious expression. His hands are clasped on the table in front of him. The background is a plain, light-colored wall.

New York City, New York Jul 28, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - It was the first revolutionary style guide for taller women in stature. But now, the publication has expanded its platform. The evolution of HEIGHT magazine has continued to live up to its name. Offering something for the entire family to enjoy.

"I created the publication out of a selfless place. To provide tall women (like myself) and teens who loved fashion, a one-stop source for all of their needs without the hassle." Rae Ashe, Editor in Chief.

The diverse read has since transitioned into a platform for all women of every height and also men. "The inclusion was necessary. We want to offer men the same great content. And featuring legendary artists such as Big Daddy Kane has been a great introduction" the editor-in-chief said.

The magazine has also formed a full-service production company called, HM Studios. Its first online series, HM Exclusive Interview has had special guests such as R&B singing group Allure, Netflix's Kings of Jo'burg producer Samad Davis and more. All are viewable on YouTube. But, that's not all. They are currently in production filming the first of three documentaries. "This series is more than just entertainment. It's Edu-tainment. We want our viewers to gain perspective after watching each show." The first one-hour show premieres next Fall on YouTube.

In 2011 the first RTW (Ready To Wear) fashion show for tall women took place at the historical Newark Museum in New Jersey. The magic returns to the runway for New York Fashion Week in 2023. "This is the perfect time to reintroduce the RTW fashion show. However, we've created a rather unique twist for the audience and buyers. We will reveal the exciting news on August 7th when the designer registration portal opens." Announcements will be made on all social media platforms and on their official website.

Is that not enough elevation for you? You can also listen to the HEIGHT Magazine Daily Dose Podcast on Anchor, Spotify, and other stations.

This past June the publication hosted the BGM Beauty & Business Fest in Elizabeth New Jersey. The first pop-up shop offers an array of diverse businesses. "I've always had a profound love for all things beauty. This networking event bridges together local small businesses and the women who created them with the community. However, entrepreneurs from all over the country traveled to be a part of it. Truly an empowering moment" the editor shared.

The pop-up shop will hold its second event in Elizabeth on October 1st, 2022.

HEIGHT produces quarterly issues available at the:

<https://www.heightmag.com>

Available at selected Books A Million this Fall.

Media Contact

HEIGHT Magazine

info@heightmagazine.com

(201)743-9611

Source : HEIGHT Magazine

See on IssueWire