

Maxity 2.0- The start of the Symbiotic Metaverse

London, United Kingdom Jul 2, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - On the 27th of June, Maxity unveiled their future path, named Symbiotic Metaverse to several Lords, MPs, Heads of NGOs, and corporate executives to explore “The New Way of Giving” combined with Web 3.0 Metaverse technology. This event was held at the prominent House of Lords in London, with thousands of participants joining the live event, making the night a resounding success!

So, what is Metaverse?

Metaverse is a place that is parallel to the physical world, where one can spend their digital lives, freed from the boundaries that countries and oceans have created, a world where one can create, transact, and interact. Many may wonder if it is similar to The Internet. Well, yes and no, imagine metaverse to be a 3D version of The Internet, with a first-person view and visual information such as users’ gestures, body movements, and positions. This is to create an immersive atmosphere where users feel like they are in a digital world while they are just really lying on their couches.

Why Symbiotic Metaverse? Why now?

The idea of Metaverse is not new, it is popularised by Mark Zuckerberg when he presented Facebook as being rebranded as Meta. It is just that Metaverse is still in its early days, each one of them is still a siloed product that does not feel connected. All of us experience firsthand how Covid-19 impacted all lives. Being quarantined, or apart from families because of travel restrictions, our reliance on technology has become exponential. We are all in urgent need of an immersive virtual experience to connect with one another.

Why is why Maxity not building a Metaverse but The Symbiotic Metaverse.

Yu Xiong, director of Maxity and a professor at the University of Surrey, explained to the group the goal of Symbiotic Metaverse, where users share a purpose, real stakes, common goals, connections, and decisions that matter.

Being a charitable platform, Maxity upholds the value of philanthropy by allowing all charities, NGOs and volunteers to form unbreakable connections to tackle all problems happening in the universe, even for emergent events! This is simply done by holding volunteer events in Symbiotic Metaverse. Acknowledging that emotional reaction and personal connection are difficult to create through present media-based technologies (photos, videos, livestreams), the “in the same boat” experience through metaverse will be the best way to cultivate empathy.

The objective of the Symbiotic Metaverse is to have one virtual world that connects all humanity. Inequality based on factors such as income, color, religion, gender, and organisation will no longer be a problem in The Symbiotic Metaverse.

Maxity-more than a marketplace:

Maxity has revolutionised the way of giving to charities by introducing the first-ever symbiotic metaverse. Maxity is more than just a marketplace. Symbiotic metaverse is a hub for humanitarian organisations to hold global volunteer events named V2E (Volunteer to earn) model. Tasks can include everything from animal protection, and environmental conservation to blood donation, clothes or monetary donation, supporting education, and more. With each accomplished work, volunteers earn secondary token incentives that may be used to purchase charity NFTs, trade for metaverse devices, or resale on any secondary market. Plus, our virtual land utility upgrades and building construction services are second to none! If you're looking for a method to give back and make a difference in the world, Maxity is the perfect platform for you. The objective of Maxity is to develop the greatest marketplace for non-profits and charities in the world. Users of Maxity can identify, collect, and sell non-fungible tokens (NFTs) that are related to a cause that they support. NFT charity events for digital art are held in order to raise funds that are subsequently donated to various charities. In the future, events will be held in Maxity Metaverse as well.

Maxity also intends to contribute to the development of the All-Party Parliamentary Group (APPG) on Metaverse and Web 3.0. To stay up to date with Maxity's venture into Symbiotic Metaverse, follow Maxity's social media pages.
