

To cater to large enterprise hiring, Hirect India revamps its website

Bengaluru, Karnataka Jul 22, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Hirect, the leading direct chat-based hiring platform, announced the relaunch of its website (<http://www.hirect.in>) where now large corporations would be able to meet their bulk hiring needs easily. The new website aims to take the user-friendly experience to the next level for both recruiters and jobseekers. The website is now modernized with finer accessibility and performance which permits the users to search for jobs and hire the right candidates in the shortest time while maintaining confidentiality. Hirect has boarded over 1,300 large enterprises and MNCs, with over 100 profiles and over 5,000 job openings. Enterprises such as Wipro, No broker, Byju, Aditya Birla, Reliance, etc. are hiring on the platform.

A website redesign helps to stay relevant and make an impression that drives results. The revised Hirect website has all the elements that will simplify the hiring process further.” With large-scale hiring in mind, the "Enterprise Hiring Page" has been established. Hirect's business hiring services are ideal for recruiters who need to rapidly expand their teams or fill several positions in a short period. The enterprise hiring solution includes a professional account manager who is in charge of handling all hiring requirements, personalized candidate recommendations, and a rigorous screening procedure to compile the best prospects in big numbers. AI technology and customized recommendations can help recruiters build a skilled workforce.

Speaking about the revamped website, Mr. Raj Das, the Global Co-founder and Indian CEO of Hirect said," Our objective of revamping the website was to combine all aspects of a highly effective hiring process under one roof and prioritize the needs of our users. Redesigning our website allowed us to relook at our browser compatibility and responsive designs. With the motive of building the most skilled workforce, the "Enterprise Hiring" feature is launched keeping in mind the large corporations and their bulk hiring needs ”

In today's digital age, the website is often the first impression a brand will make on potential customers or partners. Thus, it's necessary to keep the website fresh and distinct along with being sure that the website is directing the right impression to the users. Hirect understands what its users want and thus focuses on delivering the ultimate user experience and making the overall usability of its website simpler. With the rise in cyber threats, Hirect has ensured the security of the private data of its users.
