

DJ Maitre Kenobi - How Music Found A Way Into The Entrepreneur's Life

Paris, France Aug 6, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - DJ Maitre Kenobi, 33 is the stage name Franck Kanga took up when he started his career as a DJ and music producer. With critically acclaimed tracks like Love, Fighter, and Studio to his name, it is not surprising to learn that Kenobi has been inclined towards music since the age of 7 - when he started learning jazz.

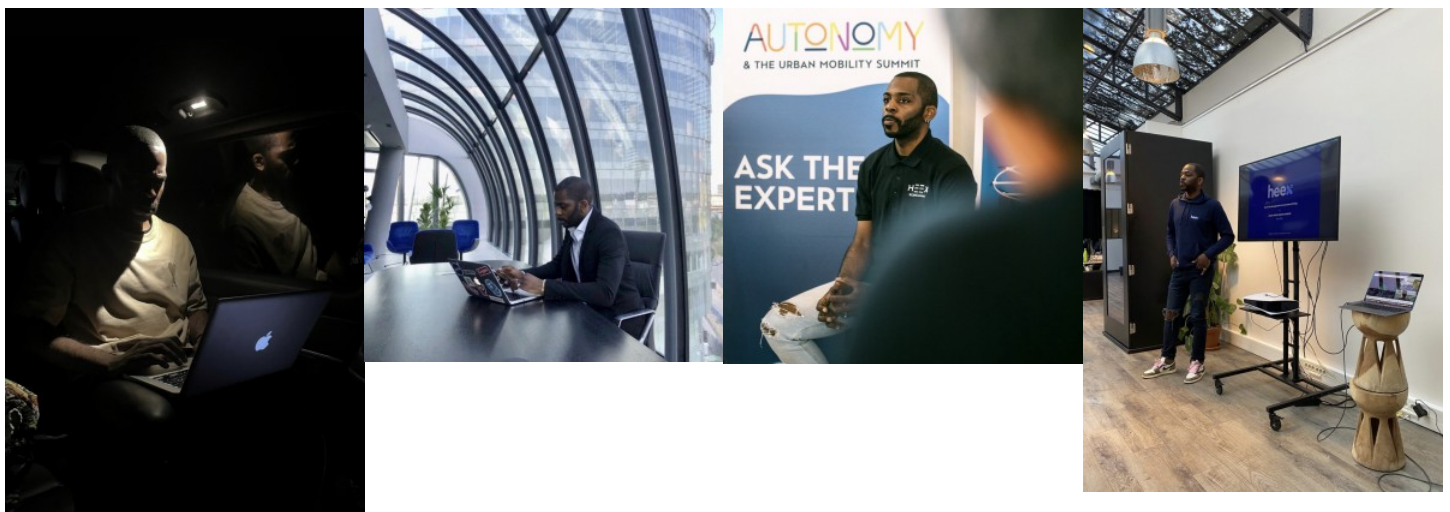

A true artist and Parisian at heart, he says, “Artists like me always find a way to Paris. The rich artistic history and legacy of this city have an unending supply of inspiration and the energetic pulse of this city... it is wicked and enchanting I think, if you listen carefully you’ll always find a glimpse of Paris’s energy and heartbeat in my music.”.

Inspired by musical greats - Quincy Jones, in particular, Kenobi hopes to meet millions of people through his music. “The power of love and hope is very strong in music. No words can compete with a strong heartfelt sound. Our world is in need of so much healing- we need each other’s love and hope to not only survive but to rally together and make this world better.”.

Alongside producing original music and music for the artists at his record label, Kenobi also works to carefully remix old songs - he sees it as a practice of art conservation. He brings in contemporary touches to older music and instead of remodelling the song, he simply polishes it so the best of songs don’t fade into obscurity and are always in the hearts of the younger generation.

He founded his music label Polymath Records to build a space for like-minded artists and works closely with his signed talent. Three of Polymath’s artists have big projects coming out soon and will be the first installment of Polymath Record’s legacy.
