Ranga Reddy district, Telangana Aug 7, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Donkeys and their milk are perhaps the most important organic elements for humans but most people are unaware of the facts. Indian Donkey Farming is making a difference by educating people about these humble and adorable animals who are not meant to carry luggage only. With over 15 years of experience and knowledge in donkey farming, the organization knows how to treat them and also how to utilize dairy products.

Donkey milk is extensively used for healthy and immunity as well as for therapeutic practices. Due to its higher Vitamin D content and less fat, the milk is effective for the treatment of arthritis, coughs, and other diseases. Not only for medical purposes but Indian Donkey Farming can elaborate on how donkey milk is used as a primary product for creating homemade skin-care products. Due to its antimicrobial properties, it is also great for wounds and injuries.

Our important service

Donkey Milk Bath For Your Skin

- Donkey Milk is used for bathing purposes as it maintains soft and smooth skin.
- In history, Cleopatra VII, the Queen of Egypt (51 to 30BC) is said to have maintained her soft and smooth skin due to a regular bath with the donkey's milk.
- It functions as an antioxidant as it helps protect cells from oxidative damage, including the damage caused by sun exposure, thus providing anti-aging benefits.

The practices and virtues of donkey milk which are limited to only tribes and folklores are slowly taking a bigger shape with its extensive use in the market. Indian Donkey Farming in Telangana is creating a bridge among all with its healthy practices and knowledge of donkey farming.
