We asked Madd Manson with all of the harsh allegations that the label Cult Leader and everyone that has been called such thing has been accused of, why would he choose the title. “A Cult Leader is a person who stands up for what they believe in and that ain’t just with religious beliefs, could be that person way of life that attracts and enlightens others that feel the same. If you stand for something or you have a talent that you believe in and other people agree and love what you do, you a Cult Leader”.
